

Yes! As a matter of fact, all Carolina Elite Baseball teams now playing have been put together this way. Regardless of your age, you may join the program as a practice squad player. After a few more players your age have joined, we will start a team for that age group. Players from other Carolina Elite Baseball teams will then be “borrowed” to complete the team’s roster on weekends the team plays, until the roster is complete with players their own age group.